

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates generally to software functional modules and, in particular, to such modules used for delivering hybrid static and dynamic content.

5